Nature In Action, Story & Song – a romp on the wild and crazy side of science

"The presentation is a delight for all ages, but is so especially for children. Jackson's presentation is gentle, accurate in wildlife information, and nicely varied with a mixture of songs, stories and audience participation."

– Ruth Grierson, Nature author and columnist for the Bar Harbor Times

"The children enjoyed the performances, were engaged and eager to participate. I really thought the program was genius."

– Agnes Buchanan, North Shore Creative Arts Council

"Your performance at the final banquet received rave reviews on the conference evaluation forms... you were sensitive, funny, educational, and entertaining."

– Andrea Shotkin, Director of Communication,
North American Alliance for Environmental Education
